A Correction

Editor, Times-Virginian:

I noticed in the issue of your paper of Oct. 1st from your Spout Spring correspondent a most startling, as well as erroneous, statement to the effect "That public school teachers in this county are the poorest paid of any in the State."

Having been twice honored by the people of this county to represent them in the halls of the House of Delegates of Virginia, I cannot allow such a statement to go unchallenged. I worked hard for the betterment of our common schools and some measure of relief has been afforded them, but we all agree there is much yet to be done.

Our county Board of Supervisors have levied taxes for schools to the Constitutional limit of 50c on the $100 of all property, and in addition to this, to further alleviate the situation, they made a special appropriation of $1000 to each of the magisterial districts for school purposes for the session of 1918-19.

The school boards have increased the pay of teachers twice in the last two years. The Legislature of Virginia levied a 4 mill tax on all property in Virginia at the session of 1918 for school purposes and also increased the direct appropriation, which netted an increase of $750,000 per year for pay of teachers and other school needs.

At the special session of the General Assembly, called in August of this year for the purpose of raising revenue to meet Federal aid for road building, we the friends of common schools made an unsuccessful effort to further aid the school situation, but were out voted three times, on the ground that the session was called for a special purpose and that other matters than roads were not to be considered until the regular session in 1920, at which time further measures for the relief of our schools would be taken up. Both Senator Ferguson and myself voted to take up school matters at special session.

I have before me the official report of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Mr. Harris Hart, and the real facts are these: For the session of 1917-18 there were 30 counties in Virginia whose average salaries of white teachers are less than are paid in Appomattox. Three of these counties border on Appomattox and are much larger and have much more wealth, viz: Amherst, Nelson and Buckingham.

The average pay in Appomattox for 1917 18 was $317 44 and 1918 19, $427 44,an increase for the last session of $110 00 per teacher; and 27 counties during the last session paying less than Appomattox.

Now Mr. Editor, I feel it a sense of county pride that such an erroneous statement as emanated from the fluent pen of your Spout Spring correspondent should be corrected, and I will thank you to give this correction the same prominence in your paper that you did the other, that the people in this and adjoining counties may know the actual facts. If further proof is desired I will furnish you for publication the official report of the State Superintendent, Mr. Harris Hart, showing the average pay of teachers in all of the counties of Virginia for the last two sessions. I am,

Yours very truly,
R. L. BURKE.

Know Your Editor

Every person who is interested in the life of his community, should have an intimate acquaintance with and sympathetic attitude toward the editors of his local papers. Too few people realize the contribution which the country weeklies make to the life of the community.

Many times the person who interests himself in community affairs, thinks of the local editor only when he wishes to make use of him to give publicity to some meeting or other enterprise. At other times he is all too likely to have only words of criticism for the pub lisher and his paper.

The newspaper is not so much a business enterprise as it is a local institution, and in proportion to what he contributes to the life of the community, the average publisher is as poorly paid as the country preacher or country school teacher. He works almost as long hours as the farmer, and cannot feel that he is off duty during any of his waking hours.—Extension Serv. News, N.Y. Agr. College.

Hurtsville

Quite a number of people from around here went to the State Fair, among them Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Gilliam, Mr. Wiley Young, Mr. John Whitehead, Mr. Henry Fore,Mr. John Beasley, Mr. J. H. Hurt, Mr. R. F Hannah and Mr. Otis Hannah. One of these gentlemen was very well pleased to find when he arrived at the Fair that his exhibit had taken first prize in that line.

Hurtsville and Buckingham people should be pleased to hear that at a road meeting held at Prospect the decision was made to repair the Appomattox county line sand clay road which is in Prince Edward and turn it over to the State for maintenance; this will call for a bridge across Vaughan's creek at that terrible crossing. By this, lower Appomattox is greatly benefitted.

Mr. Carson and Mr. Drinkard promise to be two hustling citizens.

We people down in this part of Appomattox become very popular all of a sudden with some of the courthouse fellows. Hardly a day passes that one of them is not around, for it is nearing election time; and often the candidate becomes troublesome.

All Plodders.

I have known several men who may be recognized in days to come as men of genius, and they were all ploddersd hard-working, intent men. Genius is known by its works; genius without works is a blind faith, a dumb oracle. But meritorious works are the result of time and labor, and cannot be accomplished by intention or by a wish. Every great work is the result of time, of vast preparatory training. Facility comes by labor.—George Ross.

Many Interesting Reports Made of Her People.

We Presbyterians are glad to welcome the Home Mission Messenger again, commencing with the October number; we expect to get it all winter.

Mr Ashley Grigg, jr., has come home from France and Mr. Mark Teeter, who has been at Panama for some time, has also come home, on furlough.

"Sow in dust, reap we must" is an old saying, and if there is anything in it the wheat and oat crop should be a record breaker.

I guess Mr. Charlie Rosser and son Elmore have two of the best dogs to be found; they have caught twenty o'possums and four 'coons and several other wild animals this fall. Who can beat this?

Miss Mallie Martin spent the week-end in the home of Mrs. Mag Williamson.

Mrs. Clem Williamson is on a visit to her granddaughter, Mrs. Mary Joy.

For the fourth time a new baby had arrived at the home of Robert's sister Nellie. When informed of the event one of his aunts told him in an impressive manner that he was now an uncle for the fourth time. Rather fussed, the little fellow answered: "Goodness me, if things keep on I'll soon be a grandpa."

"Y" MAN TO DIRECT COMMUNITY SINGS

ERNEST B. CHAMBERLAIN
State Song Leader of the Young Men's Christian Association.

That a singing army is a fighting army is a psychological phenomena now accepted by military leaders the world over. That a like condition will prove similarly effective in producing results with big groups in civil life is not to be doubted. With this end in view, the State Executive Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association has incorporated as a leading feature in its program of activities in Virginia, the organization and conduct of mass and community sings.

This work will be under the immediate supervision of Ernest B. Chamberlain, State Song Director, whose photograph is shown above. At the outbreak of the world war Mr. Chamberlain was instructor of voice culture at the University of Wisconsin. He Volunteered for overseas service with the Y. M. C. A. and was put in charge of the War Work Council's entire music program with the army in France.

While Mr. Chamberlain will personally direct the organization and conduct of community sings, his principal endeavor will be to search out competent leaders in local communities and instruct them in approved methods of choral work. His years of experience as a teacher, and his service with big song groups in the army eminently fit him to do this.

The community sing is but one part of the extensive program of activities undertaken by the "Y" for and in Virginia, by means of which it is hoped to make country life more attractive, promote the social, moral and economic welfare of county communities, and increase the efficiency and permanency of farm and industrial labor. The work will be carried on in co-operation with governmental, church and local agencies.

CALLED HER FAMILY TO HER BEDSIDE

Six Years Ago, Thinking She Might Die, Says Texas Lady, But Now She Is a Well, Strong Woman and Praises Cardui For Her Recovery.

Royse City, Tex.—Mrs. Mary Killman, of this place, says; "After the birth of my little girl...my side commenced to hurt me. I had to go back to bed. We called the doctor. He treated me...but I got no better. I got worse and worse until the misery became unbearable...I was in bed for three months and suffered such agony that I was just drawn up in a knot... I told my husband if he would get me a bottle of Cardui I would try it... I commenced taking it, however, that evening I called my family about me...for I knew I could not last many days unless I had a change for the better. That was six years ago and I am still here and am a well, strong woman, and I owe my life to Cardui. I had only taken half the bottle when I began to feel better. The misery in my side got less... I continued right on taking the Cardui until I had taken three bottles and I did not need any more for I was well and never felt better in my life... I have never had any trouble from that day to this."

Do you suffer from headache, backache, pains in sides, or other discomforts, each month? Or do you feel weak, nervous and fagged-out? If so, give Cardui, the woman's tonic, a trial.

Putting On Demountable Rims

In putting demountable rims on automobile wheels, much care should be exercised.

First of all, the wedges hold ing the rim on should be tightened evenly. If this is done, the tire will run true. Otherwise it will "wobble" and cause excess tire wear.

It will also save frequently stripping the bolt threads if the wedges are driven in as they are tightened. In other words, if the threade on the nuts and bolts are depended on to force the wedges under the rim, the chances are that the threads will be stripped. If the wdges are tapped in with a hammer as they are tightened, however, there is little danger of stripping the threads by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.

Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrh (deafness) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Send for circulars, free.

Turn Clocks Back Oct. 26

General uncertainty as to when the clocks of the nation may be turned back and daylight saving abolished seems to have resulted from the recent action of congress in repealing the daylight saving act. In answer to numerous questions officials in Washington have pointed out that clocks may not be turned back until the last Sunday of October, or Oct. 26, at 1 a. m.

Birds Driven by Storms.

Certain instances of birds found singly far to the north of their usual range are possibly to be explained by the whirl of cyclonic storms. The wind, turning counter clockwise, blows off shore in the south and carries the bird out to sea. But, sooner or later, if the bird has the good fortune to last out the experience, the farther spin of the storm tends to bring him ashore again.

It is Illegal To Carry Spot Lights On Autos

At the recent special session of the Virginia General Assembly an act was passed regulating the use of lights and prohibiting the use of spot lights on automobiles. The act in brief follows:

"Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Virginia that it shall be unlawful to use a vehicle of any kind operated on the public highways of this state, including motorcycles, any lighting device of over four candle power equipped with a reflector unless the same shall be so designed, deflected or arranged that no portion of the beam of reflected light is projected to the left of the axis of the vehicle when measured seventy five feet or more ahead of the lamps shall rise above forty-two inches from the level surface on which the vehicle stands under all conditions of load.

"It is hereby made unlawful for the driver of any automobile or other motor vehicle to direct the rays of a light known as a spotlight upon an approaching vehicle upon any public highway in this state."

Any person violating any of the preceding sections " " " shall be guilty of misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $25 for each offense."

The remaining sections of the act provide that the driver of any motor or other vehicle, which shall have run into or injured any person, must forthwith stop, return to the place of the accident and render whatever assistance is possible. Violation of this section is punishable by a fine of $25 to $200 for the first offense.

LEARNING TO MAKE MONEY ONLY HALF

Wise Spending Is Also Essential According to War Savings Organization.

Learning how to make money is only half. It is learning how to spend wisely and save judiciously that counts.

Even saving does not necessarily mean wise spending, since the present day offers so many equivalents for our money. It is only by making a careful, systematic study of the household administration that a proper balance may be found between the different items in the average budget of the home.

There are items in every household on which too much money is spent. The fact must be faced that if too much is spent on clothing, for instance, less must be spent for other necessities of life.

Saving, however, is the item that should be most emphasized. Poorhouses are full of people who did not have a saving item on their budgets Unemployment, sickness, old age and many other demands necessitate a call on the reserve fund, the lack of which will result in suffering and want.

Every young enterprise is conducted on system. If the home is to be a successful institution it must also comply with the wise rule of economics. Systematic household accounting will make a home more cheerful and prosperous. Household accounting alone, however, will never return its full benefit until it is backed by an intelligent family budget.

One must consider the problem of whether it is wiser to pay rent or to build a home. In a large measure this depends on local conditions as well as the size of the income.

Amusement and recreation are essential in family life. The child and the adult should have an allowance for this, though the total be very small, averaging from 4 to 5 per cent of the income of the family.

The wise spender plans the needs of the family so that the amount spent for the "unessentials" items will be as small as possible. This item should not be a "catch all" in home records.

Increase of English.

In the year 1600 there were about six million persons who spoke English—a much smaller number than spoke French, German, Italian or Spanish. Today Englishspeaking people number about one hundred and twenty millions, or about double the aggregate of those who speak French, Italian or Spanish and half as many again as speak German or Russian.

STATE-WIDE PROGRAM PHYSICAL TRAINING

GEORGE O. DRAPER
State Physical Director of the Young Men's Christian Association.

As a nation we have been living on the vitality of our forefathers, hard working wood choppers and tillers of the soil. We have recklessly spent our birthright until now a state of bankruptcy threatens. When Uncle Sam rallied the flower of the land in the recent struggle to save the world from the Hun, the people of the United States were made to realize how very dearly they were paying the price for their short sighted physical policy. Two out every three young men examined for the army were disqualified. Why? Because they were not physically fit, and the boys from the rural communities showed a higher percentage of refusals than the boys from the cities.

The nation now recognizes that steps must be taken to conserve the vitality of its citizens. There is pending in Congress a bill providing for instruction in physical training of all school children throughout the country. States and cities are also showing a keen interest along the same line.

The Young Men's Christian Association of the State of Virginia has undertaken to provide a program of physical training, in cooperation with the churches, public schools and other organizations, working in and for their communities. George O. Draper, an expert on physical training, play and recreation, whose photograph is shown above, has been secured for this service. He will devote his entire time to the organization and promotion of physical education throughout the state; the training of leaders in the various communities, and supplying them with programs of activities suited to the need of their particular localities. Provision will be made to furnish free to teachers, ministers, accountmasters, and all people working in the interest of county communities, programs of games, stunts and recreational activities adapted to their needs. The organization of Sunday school athletic leagues, baseball leagues and community-wide recreational activities will be a part of the state program.

H. W. JACKSON, President — WALKER SCOTT, Vice-President

nothing more than a visit to Richmond! The atmosphere of your office is an asset that should in some way be shown on the trial balance of the Virginia Trust Company."

Quotation from a letter received recently from one of our best customers.

The inference we draw is that all his dealings here, which have been many and varied, have always been satisfactory.

The basis upon which we solicit business, large and small, is—SATISFACTORY SERVICE!

That's the point!
